

The Guitau trial will not be closed this week. From present indications the arguments will consume two or three days more.

Mr. Blaine is working on his eulogy on Garfield, and it is predicted that it will be one of the finest eulogies ever delivered before Congress.

Ex-President Hayes says he will not visit Europe. Since he lost that $250 on Dakota wheat speculations, he has changed many plans which had already been formed.

Those who predicted that Postmaster General Howe would weed all the business men out of the postoffice department, are not having much comfort in seeing the prediction verified.

Spalding, the inventor of the famous glue bearing that name, is a drunkard, in New York. He never made much out of the patent, but the man who bought it, made a clean million out of it.

One of the Winaus, of Baltimore, but who lives most of the time in England, is building a monster "cigar ship" which will cost one million dollars. He thinks he will be able to cross the Atlantic in five days with it.

It is a fact that it required 1,000 cars to carry exhibits to the Atlanta Exposition, but 200 were sufficient to take away those which remained unsold. Nearly everything except the heavy machinery found a purchaser. Rather to the surprise of the managers, the negroes did not visit the Exposition, in large numbers, and "Freedman's Day" was almost a complete failure.

Governor Rusk certainly made a timely departure when he sent his message to both branches of the Legislature as an executive communication to be read by the clerks. He considered the joint convention plan of receiving it a piece of old fogysm, and wisely decided to make a change for the better. Annual messages are now generally sent to the Legislatures by the Governors as executive communications, which puts an end to all the fuss and flurry of meeting in joint convention.

The Hon. Franklin L. Gibson, Speaker of the Assembly, is yet a young man, being only 35 years old. He has only had one year's experience in the Legislature, serving last winter for the first time. He lives at Ellsworth, Pierce county, and is a lawyer by profession. He came to Wisconsin eleven years ago, and has lived in Pierce county nine years. He was a delegate to the Republican convention at Chicago in 1880. He is a bright young man, and will make a good Speaker.

It is again rumored that the Democratic members of the Legislature will surely raise a contest over the recently adopted biennial sessions amendment to the State constitution, unless they shall this winter be permitted to draw $500 each as for a biennial session, instead of 350 for an annual session; which latter the attorney general rules this present session to be. There may be a few rattle heads to try this on, but a majority of them will have nothing to do with it. There has been no appropriation for paying the members $500, and beside that the biennial sessions can not go into effect until next year. Those who propose to make application for $500 for this winter's lodging at the capital, will get left.

A teacher at Middleton, in Dane county, wanted to know if the Mondays following Christmas and New Year, are legal holidays, and though no schools were open, could the teacher draw pay, and writes to Professor Whitford on the subject. The answer to this letter is published in the Madison Democrat, and is as follows:

MADISON, Wis., Dec. 12, 1881.
DEAR SIR:—The law does not allow the Monday following Christmas or New Year to be a legal holiday in our schools. Yours respectfully,
W. C. WHITFORD,
State Superintendent.

But the Revised Statutes, of 1878, seems to make out a different case, which reads as follows:

In settlements for wages between teachers and district boards, or other employers of teachers in the public schools, twenty days of teaching shall constitute a school month, unless it be otherwise specified in the contract, and all legal holidays occurring on school days shall be counted although no school be taught, but no Saturdays shall be counted.

The Statutes do not agree with the letter of Professor Whitford's as it appears to be a plain question that the Mondays following Sundays on which all Christmas and New Year, shall be counted as holidays and the teacher shall receive pay for these days although no school was kept.

PARALYSIS.

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 12.—Lieutenant Wm. Kendrick, one of the oldest and best known citizens, is fast approaching dissolution, having suffered a stroke of paralysis yesterday, since which time he has been unconscious. Mr. Kendrick is about 70 years of age, and has been practically at the head of the police force, being First Lieutenant for the past eighteen years.

"The Commodore."
JOS. L. FOOTE, the Commodore, Elgin, Ill., says THOMAS ELECTRIC OIL cured him of sciatica with one application, thoroughly applied. It also cured him of severe cold and cough. He thinks it a very valuable remedy, and will never be without it.

FROM MADISON.

Special to the Gazette.

MADISON, January 13.—It has developed that a few evenings since as A. F. Oakey, a young man, was escorting home his sister-in-law, Miss Keiser, some roughs overtook and separated them, beating Oakey, while one of them, John Conklin, brutally outraged the girl. She recovered sufficiently this morning to appear against the scoundrel, in the police court. The case was postponed till next week.

On the 31st day of December last, H. A. Ward, a Swede cutter employed in a leading tailor shop in this city, went to Chicago avowedly to see relatives, having a brother and daughter there. He is supposed to have had $3,000 about him, and was entrusted with business for his employer. He was to return in a few days, and it is ascertained by telegraph that the business entrusted to him has not been transacted. It is feared that he has been foully dealt with, and the chief of police of this city would be pleased to have information concerning him. He was a good looking, gentlemanly man, weighing over 200 pounds, and respectfully dressed. The legislative halls are almost deserted, to-day. The astonishingly long adjournment is taken advantage of by members and officers alike, and even the messenger boys have gone home. The raid on the stationery department has been unusually great for this early in the season, and there is much grumbling that the customary fancy articles are not to be had. The stationery stock this year smacks strongly of practical economy, and nothing more ornamental than a big jack knife is to be had.

A few of the members refuse to draw plunder, they preferring to urge the increased pay which is supposed to be allowed by the new constitutional amendment. The Supreme Court will be ordered to decide the question.

There is excellent sleighing throughout this region, and the streets are gay with fancy rigs.

HANGMAN'S DAY.

Special to the Gazette.

MONTREAL, Jan. 13.—Francis Moreau was hanged this morning.

St. Louis, Jan. 13.—Thaddeus Baber and Wm. Ward, colored, were hanged at 8:21 this forenoon on the same gallows. They had nothing to say, but professed religion and kept their eyes fixed on the bible till the black caps were drawn over their head.

THE TRUNK LINES.

Special to the Gazette.

New York, Jan. 12.—It is believed that the latest proposition for the settlement of the trunk line war will be successful. The Northwestern company cleared five hundred thousand dollars by the exchange of bonds.

BURNED.

Special to the Gazette.

CHICAGO, Jan. 13.—The large water pipe factory of Crane Bros. was destroyed by fire this morning. Loss $50,000.

ADDRESSING THE JURY.

An Interested Audience.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—The session of the criminal court to-day was a very interesting one. The eloquent David gave the interest manifested in his first utterance until the whole audience was at a white heat of excitement, when he stopped himself, exhausted, to breathe at noon. The audience cooled off under the keen breezes which were permitted to play through the court-room for an hour, and at 1 o'clock were ready to listen calmly to that which could not be heard with eagerness.

When the court adjourned at 3 o'clock, David being from sheer weariness, unable to proceed, although Judge Cox announced on Tuesday that the court would hereafter sit from 10 until 4 o'clock, the audience were once more worked up to a high pitch of excitement, and were glad to soothe their ruffled spirits in the cool air of the court house steps.

It need scarcely be said that Guitau and his family were the least excited of the men and women who at many times literally hung upon David's lips. Guitau, who had not slept well, looked and felt badly this morning. He did not relish his breakfast and came into court in a very mopey condition. His sister, Mrs. Scoville, was not at all well, and her excitement increased constantly, she came before the court adjourned at 3 o'clock, hysterical. So wrought up was she by all that she had seen and heard during the day, that she leaned her gray head on her outstretched palms and sobbed aloud.

WANTS A SEAT.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Thomas J. Majors, of Nebraska, is here for the purpose of claiming his right to a seat in the House of Representatives from that State. Last fall he was elected as a contingent member from Nebraska, the population of the State having increased to figures to entitle it to two members. This was the second time Majors had been elected, but two years ago he had to appeal to a Democratic House and was refused admission. Now that the House is Republican, he believes he can get his seat. He maintains that it is unjust to keep that portion of Nebraska's population, which is practically without representation in the House unrepresented until after the passage of an apportionment act. He is backed by the Nebraska delegation and other Western Republicans.

MADISON POSTMASTERSHIP.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—There have been many misstatements with regard to the case of the Postmaster at Madison, Wis., and attempts have been made to throw the responsibility for the President's failure to re-nominate Mr. Keyes to that office upon Postmaster General Howe. The facts are Keyes' name was submitted to President Arthur in this connection by Mr. James some weeks ago. His claims have been pushed by Caswell. The President did not send in the nomination to the Senate because it was found there was a departmental regulation forbidding a Postmaster to act as a member of the Legislature, to which position Keyes has been elected. There is also a provision in the Wisconsin State constitution prohibiting this combination of offices. It thus appears the matter is entirely beyond the control of the present Postmaster General.

RAT-CATCHERS.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., January 12.—Picking up rats with the naked hands was the attraction last night at the "Champion's Rest," the program being that Frank Carroll, who has had considerable experience in the business, and Mark Smith, a well-known sporting man of West Philadelphia, were to pick up 100 rats each, the one accomplishing it in the shortest time to become the possessor of stakes amounting to $50 and the entire gate money. Carroll was the first to enter the pit, and getting the rats into a heap, plunged his bare arms into them ready for the call of time. In the first lift he placed nearly two-score into the barrel, which was placed in the center of the pit, and as quick as a flash Carroll made another dive and was as successful as in the first attempt. The trouble now commenced, as the rats became separated. Regardless of position, Carroll grabbed them, and, after the expiration of thirty-four seconds, the last one had been picked from the pit. Smith made a good attempt after the first lift, and 39 seconds were required before the last rat was placed in the barrel. Previous attempts have been made to pick up the same number of rats, but the complement has always fallen short. This is said to have been the only legitimate match of the kind ever held in America.

DISEASED PORK.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Jan. 12.—A most startling discovery was made by the meat inspector to-day. A farmer in the town of Lake owned a number of hogs, among which cholera made its appearance in its most malignant form, committing such havoc that it was only a question of time when the last one in the drove should succumb to the disease and die a valueless death. To escape this loss of valuable property, it is asserted that the sick and dying swine were turned over to Anton Gaudy, keeper of a meat market at 689 Second avenue, who had slaughtered the whole lot, with the atrocious purpose of retailing the meat, thoroughly inoculated with the loathsome disease, to his unsuspecting customers. The butcher and the farmer will both be arrested. Twenty-five of the diseased hogs were put on the market.

MANY MISERABLE PEOPLE drag themselves about with failing strength, feeling that they are steadily sinking into their graves, when, by using Parker's Ginger Tonic, they would find a cure commencing with the first dose, and vitality and strength surely coming back to them. See other column.

CUTTING RATES.

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 12.—The management of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul is at present engaged in preparing a summary of the amount of building to be done by that company during the present year. Although it is impossible to learn the exact extent of the building operations to be carried on, yet it is said that fully 100 miles of new road will be put under contract. The cutting of rates on grain and provisions continues without any apparent abatement, and acting agents are going under the regular tariffs to the extent of two cents. Though it is generally understood that the rate of all rail should be 12 cents per 100 pounds to New York, contracts were made yesterday as low as 10½ cents and the maximum 11½ cents, while via Grand Haven grain and provisions are carried two cents under the above minimum. This seems to be the final cut, and instead of seriously injuring the prospects of the railways, will have the effect of restoring rates.

THE JEANNETTE.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 12.—Mr. Frelinghuysen, Secretary of State has just received the following telegram from our Charge d'Affaires at St. Petersburg, respecting the fate of the Jeannette and her crew:

Danenhower and five of the crew of the whaleboat arrived at Irkutsk Dec. 17. They are comfortably lodged and all their wants supplied. Melville and six men are expected soon. Captain DeLong and the crew of the first cutter had not been found up to Nov. 16, the last date Bouloungers reported. The Jeannette was caught in the pack Oct. 1, 1879, drifted with the winds and currents till June last, and was then abandoned.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Jan. 12.—Frederick Jeske, who brained his son with a billet of wood, waived a preliminary examination, and was bound over for trial on a charge of murder.

THE GALLOWES.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 12.—A Yakima (W. T.) dispatch says Toma Hop Towne, an Indian, was executed to-day for the murder of Lorenzo D. Perkins and his wife. The murder was committed at Rattlesnake Creek, Yakima county, during the raid of the summer of 1878. Seven Indians were engaged in the murder. Three have been executed, three were shot while resisting the Sheriff and endeavoring to escape from jail, and one having turned State's evidence, Toma Hop Towne, like his other confederates, confessed the crime. He met his fate with stoical indifference.

A Hard Case.

"You collect doubtful notes, don't you?" asked Gilholly of a Galveston lawyer, who answered in the affirmative. "Then collect this one," said Gilholly, placing a document in the lawyer's possession. The lawyer looked at the document, and then said confidentially to himself: "By the shades of the immortal Blackstone, this is one of my own notes for thirty dollars that has come home to roost. Welcome, little stranger!" "Have you collected that doubtful note?" asked Gilholly next time he saw the lawyer.

"Yes," replied the latter, "but I never had as much trouble in my life collecting a note, but I happened to know where the party had some money, and I just gibbled it. The party kicked like the mischief, but he couldn't help himself. My fee in the case is $20."

Gilholly was in high feather expecting to get $10, anyhow. As he got the note for a bad debt at five cents on the dollar, he would still be doing very well, so he eagerly held out his hand for the avails. "I can't pay you your $10 in actual cash, but I'll give you my note for it. You know it is as good as gold."

"But you don't pay your notes," "If it's not paid at the proper time, come to me, and I will see myself about it. I have better facilities, as you will know, for getting the money out of myself than any other lawyer."

"Look here," said Gilholly, getting mad, "if you don't pay me that $10 I'll sue you."

"That's right in my line. I'll sue myself on your behalf; but I want a $10 fee."

"I'll give you the $10 you owe me to sue yourself for it," said Gilholly sneeringly.

"I am not big enough fool to take such risks. Cash in advance is my motto, particularly when dealing with slippery customers,"—Galveston News.

The Duke of Connaught and the Irishman.

All classes in Ireland are fond of grandeur and circumstance, and the establishment of a royal residence there would have a most beneficial effect. During the stay of the Duke of Connaught in the country, he was, as usual, very affable, and won golden opinions among rich and poor. It was told that, one day when he was standing at the door of a hotel, a tatterdemalion came up to him, and with native assurance called out: "Welcome to Ireland, your Royal Highness! I hope I see your Highness well."

"Quite well. I am much obliged to you," replied the Duke.

"And your royal mother, the Queen?" continued the man. "I hope she is also enjoying good health?"

"Yes, thank you," returned the Duke; "the Queen is very well."

"I am glad to hear it, your Royal Highness. And how are your royal brothers?"

"Get along there, fellow!" said one of the aides-de-camp, who happened to come up at that moment.

"What are you interfering with me for, sir?" retorted the tatterdemalion, much affronted. "Don't you see that I am holding a conversation with his Royal Highness?"—London Society.

LOOK HERE! I HAVE A WORD TO SAY.

Thanking my friends, and all others, for their liberal patronage in the past, I would say that I have never been as well situated to give every one as good fitting custom made garments as at the present time. A garment cut artistically, trimmed in good taste, and made up by superior workmen, cannot fail to please any one. I have been successful in engaging the services of F. ALBERT SMITH, direct from Boston, to fill the required position of cutting and superintending the making of all the custom work. We will not allow any garments to go out from this time unless entirely satisfactory both in fit and workmanship. I have the best and most skillful workmen, and they are stayers, too, regardless of large offers. They work for me for the simple reason that I pay them well for doing good work, and do by them as I would have them do by me.

For the month of January we shall give special reduction on all of our custom made garments. Come and see us, and we will make it to your advantage. Goods shown with pleasure.
